Hi Robert,

Check out Storage Vessel Response to Comments, top of page 11-18, that might answer your question.

Let me know if we need to reach out to the larger group in January.

Thanks,

Alex

Alexis,

I seem to remember a discussion on the topic of "relocation" and whether or not a relocation is subject to OOOOa and I am thinking that the answer is no; a relocation of oil/condensate tanks and an oil/water separate from an abandoned facility to another permitted compressor station is not subject to OOOOa.

Do you have any recollection of the relocation conversation and/or any written determinations that could have come from such discussion?
